OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Mr. J. O. Cooper, Editor of the Blue-Grass Clipper Visits Columbia and Writes

AN INTERESTING LETTER TO HIS PAPER

Columbia, Ky., Sept. 18, 1909.

Dear Clipper:

"When we left the office last week to go on the first vacation in five years it was not our purpose to spend any part of that time in writing, but as we have received such a warm correspondence here, and the town has expressed in so many ways that we have not been able to resist the temptation to send back home a few random notes. Columbia is one of the oldest towns in the state, having passed beyond the century mark several years. It was laid out just a few years before the good year 1809, that year which gave birth to so many of our greatest men and events. But the town has lost nothing by being born ahead of that notable year. Its 1,200 people live high and dry upon many hills, down which run broad streets into the square, of which the Court House is the center. Down its side, you do not see dilapidated, torn down buildings on the public squares. Instead there are handsome two-story brick business houses that are filled with first-class merchandise. One merchant is putting up a new store, which will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000. On the residence streets are many signs of improvement, and the number of houses that have been built within the last two or three years is remarkable. The sidewalks are being concreted rapidly, work of that kind being done in many different parts of the town at once.

To the stranger the chief drawback to Columbia seems to be its distance from the railroad, but the people here do not seem to mind the twenty mile drive from Campbellville, the nearest railroad point. The stage line makes two trips each way a day, having a relay station on the way where horses are changed. One need not feel that he is cut off from the world by any means. This apparent drawback does not interfere with business at all; in fact business here appears in a favorable condition, and the sound of the hammer, saw and trowel is proof positive that the Columbia people have faith in the future of their town. And that is what it takes to build a town.

The drive from Campbellville amply repays one for whatever inconvenience may be occasioned by it. The scenery along Green river is as romantic and beautiful as one can find anywhere. An interesting feature of the trip is the caravan of freight wagons one passes carrying merchandise to Columbia traders. They are covered and resemble the prairie schooners. Unlike the prairie schooners they are not bearing human freight to some unknown country but are bringing the luxuries and necessities of life to people who enjoy and appreciate them. On the trip it is not unusual to pass 40 or 50 of these wagons some coming and some going. Columbia furnishes abundant proof that a town can live and prosper without railroads. Its citizens tell you with pride that it was the pioneer in this respect. Since 1854 it has enjoyed "dry times," and the people tell us they would not have saloons under any consideration. No vote was ever taken here on the question, but a special act was gotten through the legislature by Judge Garrett giving the trustees of the town the right to grant, or refuse to grant liquor license. The fight was then made to put in the right sort of men for trustees. The whiskey people made two or three fights, but always lost out. In time they quit entirely. The result is that a whiskey man now could not get enough signers to his petition to get his name on the ballot. It is the same way in the county. Men who know tell us that out of 3,300 voters in Adair county a proposition as to wet or dry would carry "dry" by over 2,500 majority. That shows the people know a good thing when they see it. We were told that there had not been a case in the police court for two years. The town marshal does not have enough to do to make life interesting to him.

One gentleman remarked that "a striking virtue about Columbia is the fact that we have no criminals, no bad characters whose very presence in the community is a menace to law and order and public safety." Would that could be said of all towns in Kentucky. Columbia supports three banks and to-day their deposits amount to considerably over $300,000. The wealth is distributed. Nearly every farmer owns his land free of mortgage, while in Columbia over 90 per cent of the people own their homes. This is an ideal condition for any community.

Politics in Adair county is all one way —Republican. The only party the democrats have in the county administration is the office of surveyor. Adair county is in the Eleventh District, and Columbia is at present the seat of the opposition to Congressman Edwards. This is Caleb Powers' stronghold and his backers claim it is going to win hands down. He is to deliver a lecture here Monday evening and the whole country side will come out to hear him. Columbia itself is Democratic by nearly 50 majority.

An institution of which Columbia is justly proud is the Lindsey-Wilson Training School. We hear great praise of the work done there. It has also demonstrated what a combination of the school can do for a community in every way.

The town has just voted a 40c tax to establish a Graded School so educational matters are not going to be neglected.

Columbia has furnished one governor a lieutenant-governor and three congressmen, among the latter being Col. Frank Wolford who was in command of the 10th Cavalry who captured Gen. John H. Morgan.

Another fact of historical interest. Theodore O'Hara, while here, wrote one of the verses of his immortal "Bivouac of the Dead." It came here to Col. Caldwell who was in the Mexican war. The latter made some suggestions to him, with the result that he finished one of the stanzas while seated at a table in a little room at the hotel, which is pointed out to the stranger. The Adair County News, whose courtesy we are enjoying while writing this, is one of the thriving institutions of the town. With a circulation of 2,700 and a modern and thoroughly equipped office, it issues one of the best and most profitable papers in the State. It is edited by Mr. C. S. Harris, who is ably assisted by Mr. J. E. Murrell. Our stay here has been most thoroughly enjoyable. Mr. and Mrs. Garrett have a beautiful home where hospitality and good cheer crown everything. They are untiring in providing for our pleasure. Mr. and Mrs. Scruggs have been given a hearty welcome. Their place in the hearts and memories of these people is secure. We neglected to make mention of the lumber business here. Several planing mills and saw mills are kept busy most of the year. Hardwood is easier to get than pine with us. The mills furnish a beautiful grade of quarter sawed oak flooring, what seems to us, a remarkably low figure. All the porches are laid with hardwood as well as the other parts of the house.

Marriage Announcement.

Miss Sallie Field, of this place, who is visiting in Bessemer, Ala., writes to a friend in Columbia, stating that her niece, Mrs. Will White, was happily married in that city on June 23rd, to Mr. Charles Hopkins, a young business man of excellent character and standing. The bride is a sister of Mr. S. F. White, deputy post-master here, and is a lady who has many friends in her old home town, who will be glad to learn that she has been married to an excellent Southern gentleman. When Mrs. White left Columbia, about a year ago, she was a popular assistant in the post-office here.

Mr. John Will Moore, who was a son of Dock Moore, died at the poor farm last Saturday. He met with a stroke of paralysis about three weeks ago, and being alone in the world, having no wife, he was sent to the poor-house in the company of the Court. His remains were conveyed to his former neighborhood and interred in the Grider graveyard.

For Sale—Good young cow and calf cheap. Also one young horse, cheap. Mrs. B. C. Montgomery, Ky.

Lucie, a little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Winty, fell last Thursday striking her chin against the apron of the stove, dislocating both jaws. A physician was called and the fracture reduced, and at this writing the little girl has recovered.

Mrs. Walker Bryant was received and baptised into the Baptist Church last Wednesday.

The Fox Hound—He's all Right.

There are many who have an aversion to a breed, for the fox hound and who can not understand or imagine why some admire him and take such delight in the chase. This is particularly true where sport and pastime are measured by the taste of those who have never heard a well trained pack in hot pursuit of an old red and whose estimate of this breed of dogs is based on the worthless specimens and not on the merits of the best. Possibly no other family of dogs has given so much real service to man or more trouble to wild animals. From earliest days of our country the hound has been active and persistent in riding the country of poisonous animals and doing a valuable service for those who hold him in disfavor. The bear, the deer and many others have disappeared by the aid he has given, the last one to hold the cave and the cliffs being the bear. It is not likely that he can be driven from the country or be exterminated for many years, but his prowling and depredations on the countryman's interests are growing less each year. Should the hound be hunted, the chase discontinued, the price of barn-yard fowls would advance on the markets due to a reduced supply.

The pleasure of the chase can not be given to an uninitiated party. Like classic music the ear must be trained for its melodies and when this has been accomplished the broad field of flight and pursuit, the mouth of the Blarney, the daring leap of the voice of Toney and Old Jim, in his young days. The snappy movement of Annie and Nona as they speed like cannon balls, the thunder tones of Gus clop on the heels of Diamond and Queen, the echoes of old Mule-head as he presses his claims, the mellow voice of old Toney, backed up by Ned, the whole chase enlivened by Mamma and Tip, Gipsy and Tip opens for a desperate dash—all mixing and melting like a modern choir, in the woods and fields when all nature seems to be intently listening in silent rapture, is bound to awaken the keenest interest and give a charm that no other innocent sport possesses.

To hear your dog lead the chase is bound to whet your appetite. To know his trailing in the rear brings an excuse mighty queer. Though simple, folly it may appear. It's going on from year to year And when the fox fails to run And then, then only will the fun.

True there are worthless hounds, too many failing to measure up to the instincts and possibilities for which they were created, but a well bred hound properly reared and trained will not be a scavenger nor a pest but useful and reliable. As a rule the hound is the hardest worker of all the canines and should be fed accordingly and when such due attention and full compensation are given he will not molest the kitchen and will be as amiable as a worthless street dog. The hound is all right and worth his board which is far in advance of some others.

Death of Averitt Hood.

Last Wednesday morning, about 5 o'clock, Mr. Averitt Hood, who was about twenty-five years old, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Hood, who live in the Mt. Pleasant neighborhood. The deceased was a victim of typhoid fever and was sick several weeks. He was a very dutiful young man and will be greatly missed from the walks of life. His father was a friend of every body and every body was his friend. The funeral was largely attended and much sympathy was expressed for the bereaved parents, brothers and sister.

Eld. F. J. Barger conducted the religious services.

The Hotel to Change Hands.

Mr. J. P. Jasper, of Springfield, Ill., was in this place last week and closed a lease for the Columbia Hotel property. He takes charge the first day of October. Mr. Jasper is thoroughly familiar with the hotel business and will come to Columbia well recommended. He has a wife and several daughters, his wife being a sister of Mrs. Eliza Willis, a former resident of this place. Mr. Allan Walker and wife, who have been conducting the hotel for several years, to the satisfaction of their patrons, will return to their residence on Greenburg street.

Valuable Property for Sale.

I have a farm on Sulphur, 33 miles east of Columbia, containing 64 acres, price $300, and two houses and lots on Turt street and two houses and lots on Hurt street, in Columbia for sale. One-third cash, balance on extended time. N. M. Tutt.

Citizens Ticket.

In obedience to a call published in this paper, quite a number of the male residents of Columbia met in the courthouse last Friday evening, the object being to select a Citizens Ticket, a managing board, to be voted for at the coming November election. Mr. James Garrett, who is Chairman of the present board, called the meeting to order and stated the object of the gathering. After which he was elected to preside over the meeting and J. E. Murrell was named as secretary.

Mr. J. O. Russell moved that a committee of five be appointed to draft resolutions and name a ticket. Whereupon the time, appointed as follows: J. O. Russell, M. Cravens, F. R. Winfrey, J. M. Conover and J. A. Young. The committee retired and in a short time reported that the following ticket had been chosen:

A. H. Ballard, Jamestown street. W. A. Coffey, Campbellville street. W. M. McFarland, Burkesville street. Geo. F. Stults, Greenburg street. L. C. Winfrey, Town at Large. Before the adoption of the report, an amendment was offered by Mr. J. F. Montgomery, giving the meeting the right to nominate other candidates and that the names submitted be voted on, one at a time, and as they were called if a person wanted to make a nomination he could do so. The amendment carried, and several other gentlemen were named as the vote proceeded, but the names reported by the committee were chosen.

It is understood that the ticket named are public spirited men, in favor of street improvements and for the perpetuation of the stock law. Before the meeting adjourned Chairman Garrett announced that sixty cents would have to be paid in order to meet the expenses of the gathering. Mr. Geo. T. Flowers moved, seconded and put the motion that the candidates selected pay the bill. It carried unanimously, and the meeting adjourned.

Mr. Frank Sharp and Miss Bettie Miller, who registered from Greenburg, were married in the parlors of the Columbia Hotel last Thursday morning by Rev. R. L. Tally.

The school at Russell Springs has not been in session for the past two weeks on account of diphtheria. There have been a number cases in the boundary of the school, and several deaths have occurred.

You will lose money if you buy before getting my prices on Farm wagons F. L. Wilson, Russell Springs, Ky. 46-47.

Born, to the wife of Wood Paxton, 23rd, a 12 pound girl.

Rev. J. P. Scruggs, of Midway, preached a very interesting sermon at the Baptist church last Sunday forenoon. Rev. Scruggs was a former pastor of the Church and a popular preacher here, hence a large congregation was out to hear him.

Union services at the Christian church last Sunday night. The building was crowded, indicating that brotherly love pervades throughout this community. Rev. J. R. Crawford, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, delivered the sermon which was highly enjoyable.

Foxes Wanted.

I want five red and grey foxes. Will pay $1.50 to $2.50 and express charges 46-47. W. T. Hodgen, Box 232, Campbellville, Ky.

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of H. B. Ingram & Sons in this issue of the News. The firm is doing a good business and is now offering inducements to its customers.

Mr. L. B. Hurt has purchased of Mr. H. B. Ingram the residence on Burkesville street, known as the Tilford Price property, for the consideration of $350. Mr. Hurt will be given possession in a few weeks.

Millinery Opening.

Miss Kate Squires, the popular Cane Valley milliner, has returned from the market with the newest and most up-to-date line of millinery goods she has ever handled. Her opening day will be Saturday, October 2. Ladies are invited to call.

We do not know where Rev. A. R. Kasey will be sent, but we predict Glasgow.

Salemman Wanted.—To look after our interest in Adair and adjacent counties. Salary or Commission Address, The Visitor Oil Company, Cleveland, O.

A Glasgow Wedding.

Miss Beas Rowe left Tuesday morning for Glasgow to be present at the marriage of Miss Katherine Depp to Mr. B. G. Davidson. The wedding is announced to be on the 6th of October at the Second Christian Church, of that place, after which it is planned, the happy couple will spend several months in the East on their honeymoon. Miss Depp is well known here among the young people, having frequently visited Miss Rowe.

The Louisville Conference convenes in Henderson, Ky., to-day. All the Methodist ministers of this county are in attendance. The Bishop will read out the appointments next Monday about the noon hour after which the session will sing "Praise God from whom all blessings flow" and adjourn. It has been suggested that the ministers who get undesirable places will give attention to the music rendered by those whose desires have been accomplished.

The Louisville Colonels will play Greenburg next Saturday on the grounds of the latter. Several Columbia players will be in the game. A large crowd from this place and out in the county will witness the game.

For Watkins, remedies, call on Mrs. Bruce Montgomery or J. H. Pease, Columbia, Ky., or Porter Murrell, Graycraft, Wilder, Hickman, Cave Valley. You can see me on the square every Monday and every Saturday. J. B. Grant.

Geo. W. Cook purchased of R. F. Paul 7 acres of ground on the right hand side of Greenburg road, one-half mile from Columbia for $400. Mr. Cook will erect a cottage on the place.

Slaves Wanted.

Back to the old price $25.00 per M. for 1-4 barrel slaves. We will pay from now until Nov. 15, 1909, delivered on our part at Columbia, Ky. For 1-4 Brl. Slaves 22 in. long, 4 in. clear of sap 1 1/2 in. on heart, made of good, sound clear, straight white oak timber. $25 per M. For No. 2, 1 Brl. Slaves, 22 in. long, all staves that will clear under 1 in. clear of sap, will be classed as No. 2 slaves) we will pay $15 per m. 46-27 Reapt., Elrod & Co.

Mr. John Hemson and Mrs. Sallie Bird were married at Gadsbury, this county, last Thursday night. Both the groom and bride had been twice married before.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hood desire to return their heartfelt thanks to their many friends who so kindly waited upon them on their son, Averitt, during his illness, terminating in death. Every thing that kind neighbors could do was done.

Wanted.

Man for wood turning lathe. Apply E. L. Sinclair, Columbia, Ky. 46-21

Read the "ads" of Russell & Co., in today's paper. They are offering bargains.

N. M. Tutt has purchased a farm, 100 acres, of John C. Calhoun, upon which the latter resides, near Milltown, for $2000.

We desire to thank the friends and relatives for their kindness to us during the sickness and death of our dear husband and father. Mrs. Eliza W. Wilson and children.

Aaron Smith, of color, was given a trial last week upon a charge of malicious cutting. It will be remembered that he cut Will Yerberry in several places at the Fair Grounds, one year ago last August. The case was given to the jury last Thursday morning, but an agreement was not reached. Ten were for an acquittal and two for a fine of fifty dollars.

Ballard & Russell, who have opened a general grocery store in Cravens' old stand, have a conspicuous "No Advertisements" sign. Read what they have to say and call and see them.

The Blue Jim Coal.

I keep a large quantity of the Blue Jim Coal—as good as ever used in a grate. I also keep other grades and make the price as low as possible. Give me your order for winter use and remove it at your leisure. C. F. Mantz, Campbellville, Ky.

For Sale.

My residence in Columbia. It is a two story building containing eight rooms, good water and a fine garden. Location near the square. 47-47. Mrs. J. W. Forth.

The dwelling house of Mr. John D. Sharp, near Amandaville, was consumed by fire on Sunday night. The loss is considerable.

Victory for Russell Springs.

Russell Springs crossed bats with Ozark last Saturday Sept. 25, and beat them to the tune of 10 to 3. Some of the Ozark boys treated the Russell Springs boys with respect, but we are sorry to say that our boys did not receive the treatment that was due them.

The twirler, Harlan Richards, did fine work in the box by putting down ten of Adair County's best bats. He was well backed by Rosenfeld our catcher.

If Millard Young has not yet caught onto the trick worked on him by Isbell and Rosenfeld, just ask Tom Holladay. Only one ball was knocked by the field which was well handled by Wilson. A fair example of Russell Springs batting was done by Wilson and Aaron, who made more than all the Ozark boys to gether.

Isbell's work on first was a great feature of the game.

Our third baseman Dunbar, made the longest hit made and had great effect.

The Ozark twirler, Tom Holladay, was exciting work on the slab, allowing Russell Springs ten runs and fifteen hits.

Bert Epperson, the professional umpire, did great work after the game was over.

We invite Ozark to our ball ground in the future and promise to show them an honest game. A Player.

Miss Lina Rosenfeld is the Librarian at the Lindsey-Wilson, having accepted the position last week.

Millinery on Display.

Mrs. Cecil Hurt and Mrs. Emma Eschbank are now busily engaged, getting ready for their millinery opening which will be Thursday of this week. They have purchased one of the nicest lines the people of Columbia will ever have seen. Their trimmer, Miss Koelsch, who made such an enviable reputation last year, is with them this season. The ladies are invited to call Thursday.

The American Association baseball season closed with Louisville the pennant winner and Milwaukee in second place. Louisville won and lost in a double-header with Kansas City Sunday. During the season Louisville won ninety-three and lost seventy-five games, finishing with a percentage of .554.

Major Nelson on Trial.

The trial of Major Nelson, of color, charged with detaining a woman, was commenced this morning. There are quite a number of witnesses and the trial will probably not be concluded before to-morrow afternoon. It will take all this forenoon to make up the jury. Since the arrest of Nelson he has been languishing in the Louisville jail. He was returned to this place Monday by Deputy Sheriff, A. D. Patterson.

Russell Springs.

We are glad to note that the health of our community is much better at this writing.

A large number of people from our county attended the State Fair and report a good time.

The health officer of Russell county has closed the schools in Russell Springs on account of diphtheria.

Mr. Leonard S. Wilson, of this city, made a very pleasant call in Columbia last Monday, to see Powers?

Harlan Richards, of Eddyville, is visiting his father and mother near Russell Springs.

Charles Gregory, who has been attending school in Russell Springs, has returned to his home in Stouffville on account of his brothers illness.

Miss Ellen Epperson has been visiting relatives in Lincoln county for the last few days.

Mr. Irvin Isbell, of this place, was at Creelsboro the first of last week.

All the teachers in Educational division number 3, will meet at Fairview, Oct. 2. Many questions will be discussed which are invaluable to teachers.

H. H. Wade, of Hustonville, has been visiting friends and relatives in Russell county.

Irvin Isbell is another one of the boys who were to Columbia to hear the lecture. Irvin forgot about the date for Powers in Russell county next day.

V. Sullivan visited our merchants the first of the week. Our merchants like Sullivan and seem to give him a good trade.

Prof. Barnes is now moving to Russell Springs to live.

Short Stops.

A good many of us have ambition and don't know what to do with it.

A man can be a weather prophet, but no man cares to guess on women's fashions.

No matter how many mistakes some men make, they always have a good excuse ready beforehand.

The man with two wives is always censured twice as much as either of the wives.

A great many big deeds are credited to ambition, when vanity is the moving cause.

After a man has been cured of dyspepsia he begins experimenting with Welsh rabbits and lobster salad, just as a divorced man prices engagement rings again.

The Future of Dairying.

The increasing demand for milk indicates that there is money ahead for the wise dairyman. Good cows require the attention of a good man in order to be profitable. Abundant food, congenial stables and kind treatment are essential. When these can be assured, fill up the stables with high grade cows and success is yours. Remember that the low producer is a bad investment, at any price, but treat the cow liberally, endowed with dairy capacity is always a powerful factor for good upon the farm. The sire is often much more than half the herd and through his purity of breeding the profitable cow must always be sought.

Short Essay on Editors.

I don't know how newspapers came to be in the world. I don't think God does, for he didn't create anything to say about them and editors in the Bible. I think the editor is one of them who makes you read of, he sits in the bushes until after the deed, and then came out and wrote it all up, and has been ever since. I don't think he ever dies. I never saw a dead one had never heard of one getting licked. If the editor makes a mistake, people say he ought to be hung; but if a doctor makes any mistake he buries them and folks dassent say nothing, because doctors can read and write Latin. When the editor makes a mistake, there is a lawsuit and swearing and a big fuss; but if a doctor makes one there is a funeral, cut flowers and perfect silence. A doctor can use a word a mile long without anybody knowing what it means; but if the editor uses one he has to spell it. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife, he charges for the visit; but if the editor goes he gets a charge of buckshot. When the doctor gets drunk, it is a case of being over by the head, and if he dies it's from heart trouble; when an editor gets drunk it is a plain case of too much booze and when he dies it is from a cause too disgraceful to speak of. Any old college can make a doctor; an editor has to be born.—Rapid River Rustler.

The Road To Success

has many obstructions, but none so desperate as poor health. Success today demands health, but Electric Bitters is the greatest health builder the world has ever known. It compels perfect action of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, purifies and enriches the blood, and tones and invigorates the whole system. Vigorous body and keen brain follow their use. You can't afford to slight Electric Bitters if weak, run-down or sickly. Only 50c. Guaranteed by Fessell Drug Co.

The time is near at hand when more attention will be universally given to net proceeds than has been done. The professional poultryman has been keeping books with his biddies, but it is the exception that the farmer keeps any account of the expense or income from his fowls. If he did, there would be a greater improvement in the farm fowls.

Feeding Cattle Scarce.

Good quality feeding cattle are as scarce among marketings at all points at this time as they were a few months ago. Those who have well-bred young steers evidently feel that they are worth more at home, with a record corn crop in course of growth, than markets, says Drovers' Journal. Feeder cattle buyers are confronted with a situation which possibly many had not anticipated. Those who did not stock their pastures with the relatively cheap steers available a few months ago, and who now come to market looking for good quality kinds, find that such grades can only be bought by competing with killers and paying killers' prices. A short time ago both corn and feeding cattle were considered too high in price. A few weeks hence the feeders may not stop to consider corn values, but may see a much higher cost of feeding steers.

It will pay anyone to take some pains to prepare a place where the cockerels may be shut away from the pullets. With a lot of young cockerels continuously tormenting them the pullets do not get to grow as they should. Unless the birds are kept for breeders, or for sale as breeders, it pays better to sell the cockerels when they weigh two pounds each, or a little more, than to keep them until they have made their full size.

Eradicating Sheep Scab.

The meeting of sheep breeders at the fair grounds was the most largely attended convention of the week. The vital question before the meeting was to devise ways and means for eradicating the scabbies from the sheep of the State and of securing an early removal of the government quarantine which now rests over us.

There was some disposition among some of the attendants of the meeting to air their views about details at more length than was profitable. Gov. Wilson addressed the meeting, and while modestly disclaiming any knowledge of the sheep industry, he pledged himself to co-operate with breeders in an effort to have the quarantine removed. Addresses were also made by W. T. Chilton, Secretary of the Sheep Breeders' Association, Mr. McKee, Vice-President, J. W. Newman, Secretary of the State Fair, Senator Froman, Dr. McCormick and others.

At the conclusion of the discussion a resolution was unanimously passed urging all sheep men to dip their sheep and appointing a committee to draft a bill to be presented to the next Legislature which would make our State laws conform to the requirements of the National government on the subject. We will publish this resolution in full next week.—F. H. Journal.

Farm Notes.

Overfeed may be bad, but underfeed is still worse.

Keep the young animals growing. Little chance of overfeeding.

One good cultivation during a dry spell is as effective as a shower. Try it.

Stick to your job. The farmer is the most independent of any class of workman.

Hogs thrive best when allowed to graze. It is economy to provide suitable fenced fields.

A bit of woodland fenced in with the pasture provides the ideal condition for the stock.

In sections too far north for crimson clover, barley and Canada peas make a good cover crop. Borax and sugar dissolved in boiling water and placed where ants are troublesome will drive them away.

The sow with young hogs should never be pastured with other large hogs. It means trouble with probable loss.

It is better to spread lime over the field to be so treated a week or two before putting in the wheat or rye. The drill can be used in spreading lime.

Tobacco waste and salt mixed in proportions of about one part tobacco to five of salt should be kept before the sheep at all times so they can help themselves. Where this is done there is no trouble from stomach worms.

The wise dairyman raises his own cows.

Good cows as a rule are raised, not bought.

The troughs must be kept clean during the hot days.

Liberal rations and commodious quarters make for splendid sheep gains.

Filthy troughs are sure to breed disease among the hogs. Keep things clean.

Very little more trouble or expense to raise a blooded animal than it is to raise a scrub.

Poultry confined to a run must have green food supplied them if they are going to thrive.

The mouse in the granary is a visitor which the thrifty farmer will not suffer to remain.

The nearer poultry can be kept in the natural state the harder they will be, and the greater profit they will return.

Been swimming or fishing this summer? Take a half day off and go with the boys. It will bring dad and the boys closer together.

High prices encourage sheep raising, but don't jump into the business too rashly. Begin in a small way and work up. Buy a few ewes and a good ram.

It is the thriftest farmer who is certain that farming does not pay. Neither would any other business pay handled in the same way as he does the farming.

Revival of An Old Style.

One of the new bracelets that is attracting attention is a band of gold from a half inch to an inch wide, either heavily engraved or covered with a pattern of black or colored enamel.

The younger generation looks at these bracelets with envious eyes, for they are not cheap; but occasionally a clever girl realizes most novelties are only old things come again.

She remembers that in her grandmother or mother's jewel case she has seen a bracelet almost identical with the new one her wealthy friend is sporting with such pleasure. Straightway it is claimed as her requisite before another member of the family awakes to its desirability.

If you have ancestors, even unto one generation of people who could afford bracelets, it behooves you to ransack the box where discarded trinkets are kept. You will probably come upon the very newest thing in bracelets, for this particular style was popular in the middle of the last century.

An Oklahoma boy put up what he considered a good joke on his mother by advertising in her name for a husband. He is now being walloped by a good, stout stepfather, the surprised but not at all frustrated mother having annexed the first man that came along, and doing well at that, as the neighbors all allowed. You can do anything in this world that is doable by proper advertising.

In a speech at St. Paul, President Taft paid high tribute to Gov. Johnson, saying he joined in the prayers that his life be saved. The president said the governor was a man whom the State and nation could not afford to lose, and added: "His ability, his great courage and his common sense can not be spared. He is too valuable to the people of his State and the people of his nation, who doubtless will insist in the time that he shall serve them."

The birthday of President William H. Taft September 15 was remembered by King Edwards, who sent the Hon. Arthur Walsh, his master of ceremonies, to the American Embassy with the request that his majesty's sincere congratulations be conveyed to the President. Mr. Taft's reply was received at the Embassy and forwarded to the King in Scotland.

Taking the Census.

Washington, D. C. Sept. 18.—About sixty-five thousand enumerators will be needed for the thirteenth decennial census of the United States, and also of Hawaii and Porto Rico, according to estimates prepared for Census Director Durand by Geographer Chas. S. Stone, of the census bureau, in whose division the enumerators' districts are defined and fixed. This is an increase of about 11,000 over the number of schedule-carriers in the census of 1900.

Director Durand points out that the per diem in 1900, according to the provisions of section 16 of the act approved March 3, 1899, were required to work ten hours a day, but, in the act providing for the thirteenth and subsequent decennial census, the time is fixed at 9 hours a day. This reduction in the daily hours will require an additional number of enumerators in the proportions of the country in which the per diem rates will prevail.

The present census law requires that the enumeration of the population shall be taken as of the 15th day of April, 1910, and the enumerators must forward their returns to the supervisors, except that in any city having 5,000 inhabitants or more at the preceding census, the enumeration shall be completed within two weeks.

In looking over the details of the estimates, Oklahoma and Washington are conspicuous, as they will call for about a 300 per cent. increase over the 1900 force of enumerators.

Pennsylvania will continue in the leadership having slightly the largest number of enumerators; the 1910 force being estimated at 5,200 against 4,720 in 1900. New York is second with a probable 5000 for 1910 as compared with 4541 and 1900. Next will come Illinois, then Ohio, Texas, Missouri, Massachusetts, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and California, all needing 2000 or more enumerators each.

Kentucky will need about 1600 enumerators. In 1900, 1329 were used.

Ohio has produced the champion mean man. Imperial Texas sought the dubious honor, presenting three candidates. The first will not drink as much water as he wants unless it is out of another man's well. The second makes his family write "small" so as to save ink, and the third stopped his clock to prevent the works from wearing out. Ohio's niggard hero, who lives in Athens county but who has imitative relatives everywhere, refuses to take the daily paper because of the strain on his spectacles through reading it.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

News Notes.

An earthquake occurred at Granada, Spain, causing great alarm, but so far as is known no damage was done.

The annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland will be held in Chattanooga on October 13 and 14.

The street-car men of Omaha and Council Bluffs went on a strike Sunday over wages, conditions and hours of employment.

Charles N. Matthews, cashier of the First National Bank Louisville, died suddenly following an attack of acute indigestion.

Mgr. Falconio, the apostolic delegate to the United States, reviewed a parade of the Central Verein in Indianapolis. There were 10,000 persons in line.

The fortieth anniversary of the founding of the prohibition party will be celebrated at Chicago. A parade of 100,000 prohibitionists is planned.

The police records of Nashville show an average of six and two-sevenths arrests per day for drunkenness since the prohibition law went into effect on July 1 this year.

Another $2,000 was sent by the American National Red Cross Society to American Consul Kenna at Monterey, Mex., to be used for the benefit of the flood sufferers.

The residence of Charles I. Gibson, at Youngstown, O., was dynamited. Mr. Gibson is general manager of a sheet and tin plate mill at which a strike is in progress.

Bishop William George McCloskey, for 41 years head of the diocese of Louisville, and the oldest bishop in the hierarchy of the Catholic Church in America, died at the Preston Park Seminary in Louisville.

At Taylorsville, burglars entered the depot and carried off the safe, which is a small one, weighing about 300 pounds. It was checks, money orders and about $80 in money, besides milk tickets, excursion tickets, school tickets, family tickets and several 1,000-mile tickets.

Placarding the neighborhood with warnings that unless the three white men who located in the strictly Negro town of Taft, Okla., last week, left town immediately death would be their punishment. Negroes dynamited the store of one of the whites in that town. The white merchants declare they will remain.

Up Goes Price of Meat.

Present high prices of meats, with the prospects of another advance of two or three cents a pound before the snow falls, suggests that there will be a general revision of family bills of fare.

Even now the cost of meats is so high that many families can not afford to have meat oftener than two or three times a week, and among the poorer classes beef and pork are now regarded as luxuries. What is to be done if prices soar higher?

In these days meat is not regarded as essential as it was formerly. There is a growing tendency towards the use of other foods, a sort of vegetarian tendency. We are not exponents of the so called vegetarian diet system, nevertheless it is our opinion that it could be profitable adopted in a rational way as a means of reducing the cost of living and, at the same time, with out detriment to the health of individuals.

In support of a diet that will exclude the daily eating of meat, many reputable physicians are authority for the assertion that Americans eat too much meat. This is undoubtedly true, and consequently if the increasing cost of beef, pork and mutton will compel us to eat less meat, the result may be a blessing.

You will pay more if you buy before getting the price on farm wagon. P. L. Wilson, Russell Springs, Ky. 494.

Ladies This is For You.

Alcohol is better than water to clean glass.

Porcelain pans may be whitened by adding borax to hot water. Rice water may be used to starch the finest lingerie garments.

Apply a raw onion to the sting of a wasp or bee to stop the pain.

A Panama hat can be greatly whitened by rubbing it with cornmeal.

Cold lamb is much improved by having a cream dressing poured over it.

To remove an ink spot from the fingers moisten it and touch it with sulphur end of a match.

Rust stains may be removed from white goods by applying lemon juice and salt to the spot.

Flowers dipped in or gently painted with melted white wax will remain as if fresh for a long time.

Shaving magnesia is a good substitute for talcum, as it is harmless and does not adhere to the skin.

An excellent cement for mending china may be made by mixing plaster with gum arabic and water.

The addition of a beaten egg to the mashed potatoes used for potato cakes will be found worth while.

Corn rice mixed with shredded cocoanut and a well beaten egg is very palatable when made into fritters.

To clean marble, take two parts of pumice and one of salt, all in powder, and mix in a paste with water.

Steel knives that are not in general use can be kept from rusting by rubbing them with a strong solution of soda.

Stains and discolorations on tinware can be removed by dipping a damp cloth in common soda and rubbing briskly.

Epsom salts dissolved in hot water and applied to a window with a brush, will give it the appearance of ground glass.

The suggestion of Gov. Sanders, of Louisiana, to the Governors of other States that they urge the farmers to hold their cotton for higher prices is apparently meeting with favor among the majority of these executives. Several responses have been received at the executive offices at Baton Rouge, sanctioning the views of Gov. Sanders, and promising perhaps similar proclamations. Gov. Sanders recently issued an address urging the holding of the staple by the planters of Louisiana.

A new $8,000 poultry exhibition building is being erected on the grounds of the Utah State Fair Association at Salt Lake. The building will be constructed entirely of steel, concrete and glass, 67x80 feet, and will be one of the finest buildings of the kind in the United States. The equipment will require an additional outlay of $1,300.

A Civil Question.

A question now we would propose for your consideration, Can everybody and the boys All thrive on education?

Though be it wise or otherwise There's some prepared to try it, But in the end you may depend They'll find it feeble diet.

Farm and Garden Notes.

How about the ground you're going to sow with alfalfa this fall?

It is better to sow rutabaga turnips in rows than broadcast.

Apple culture in Texas should be developed more assiduously.

Rotation must be practiced in the garden or truck field to obtain the best results.

Black Winter or Spanish radishes should be sown in August or September with turnips.

He who lets the weeds go to seed this month is storing up for himself infinite trouble next year.

It has been said that "weeds are the devil's flower." Certain it is that they play the mischief with a crop.

A fall crop of potatoes will be found profitable, if the grower has kept his land in good tilth during the summer.

The eighth annual convention of the National Nut Growers' association will be held at Albany, Ga., October 12, 13 and 14, 1909.

All decaying cabbage should be dug up and destroyed. Black rot and other fungus diseases and insect pests will thus be held back.

All rubbish should be removed from the garden before it is plowed. Debris of any sort is annoying and interferes with cultivation.

The strawberry beds set out in early fall—the earlier, the better—make the larger crop of berries. Plants should have sufficient moisture. It is necessary, at times, to use the garden hose in order to supply them with the needed moisture.

The success of the fruit grower depends very largely upon his judgment in selecting and his skill in the management of the soil upon which he grows his crops. So important is the soil that success of failure depends upon the grower's industry and skill in its management.

Grider's Store.

We are still having plenty of dry hot weather.

J. W. Rexroat lost a good work mule one day last week, we consider it a great loss for Mr. Rexroat had refused $200. for the mule, it was running and struck against a snag.

Elbert Darnell bought a team of six year old work mules from Mr. Wean, of Webb's X Roads, price unknown.

Lozan Absher still remains in a bad shape.

Several from here went to Columbia Monday.

A large crowd of the young people attended society at Liberty last Friday night and all report a nice time.

Bro. Gailor preached his last sermon at French Valley last Sunday for this year, we hope to have him back.

Several of the young people expect to attend the teachers association at Freedom next Saturday.

Once in a while we can see a candidate slipping around.

James Darnell bought a track of land from Mont Powell for a good price.

The French Valley boys met the Blair school house boys again last Saturday afternoon for another ball game, as the Valley boys are sorry for the Blair boys we won't mention any farther.

Measured in Horse Power.

When the steam engine was placed upon a commercial basis by Watt and his successors it seemed entirely natural that its power should be expressed in terms of the effort of a horse and in spite of all later suggestions for new units the horse power remains as the measure of the greatest aid to human effort which has yet been produced.

The engines of to-day have their power expressed in terms of thousands of horses and this power is distributed and applied very largely by means of electricity, this method permitting both a convenient distribution and unequalled facility in control and manipulation.

The horse-power is expressed in terms of foot pounds, or in other words by means of the idea of lifting a weight, and it is to the lifting of weights that electrically transmitted power has been most effectively applied, —Cassier's Magazine.

Wednesday evening shortly after 6 o'clock, Danville people observed a large yellow balloon passing over the eastern end of the town. The balloon started from Dayton, Ohio, at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday morning and landed near the Shelby farm in the vicinity of Moreland, Wednesday night about 8 o'clock. Two Dayton men made the trip in the balloon. They came down within talking distance at the farm of Mr. Nelson May on the Lexington pike. Mr. George Robinson of this city, talked with the men and they told him that they were from Dayton, Ohio. After landing at Moreland the men talked freely. They said they knew when they struck Kentucky by the fact the people began shooting at them and for that reason they were forced to remain several hundred feet in the air. Many shots were fired at them in the City and several dove hunters in the Lexington pike locality pumped a few charges of shot at them. The balloonists stated that as they crossed Kentucky river, a man in a ferry boat took deliberate aim at them and that they had a narrow escape at that point. They left yesterday afternoon for their home in Dayton. —Danville Advocate.

KENTUCKY

A National Loss.

In the early dawn of to-day Gov. Johnson, of Minnesota, passed to his reward. Born some forty-odd years ago of Swedish origin, in the State of which he was three times Governor, a worker from childhood, pursuing his studies under conditions, the most arduous, John A. Johnson was to illustrate the extraordinary prerogatives of this new American land in which his people had made their home. From the first he evinced a rare capability and a rare industry, a genius for touching the life and the sympathies of his fellow-men at many and various points, such a grasp of affairs, so clear and well balanced an outlook as to be designated inevitably as arbiter in many a vexed situation.

The very lowliness of his beginnings, the very handicaps of his start were never lost sight of in the dignity of his office, which he held clean and high as a trustee of the people; the cause of freedom and humanity was his cause, and recognition of his championship of the West—sometimes is open defiance of the East—drew to him the suffrages of the electorate without regard to party lines. It happened thus that, Gov. Johnson, a militant Democrat, was thrice chosen as Chief Executive of a typically Republican State.

With Harmon, of Ohio, and Marshall, of Indiana, he was part of that newer hope from which the party had such good cause to augur uplift and encouragement; less a scholar than the one, more tolerant than the other, he preached a doctrine of emancipation from shams and shakles which united all discords. —Lou. ACTION OF THE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE.

In accordance to a published announcement the Democratic Committee for Adair county met in Columbia last Saturday afternoon for the purpose of naming candidates for county offices. The committee convened at 1:30 and discussed various gentlemen whose names had been mentioned for position, some of whom being avowed candidates. After deliberating until 5 o'clock the committee decided that it would name only two candidates, and Mr. Gordon Montgomery for County Attorney and Mr. Walker Bryant for County Court Clerk were unanimously nominated. After the nominations were made Messrs. Montgomery and Bryant were escorted to the Committee room where they gracefully accepted the nominations. Candidates for other positions also appeared before the Committee, stating that they were for the good of the party, and that the action of the committee was perfectly satisfactory. The committee then adjourned, peace and harmony prevailing.

In our judgment the Committee showed its wisdom in selecting Mr. Montgomery and Mr. Bryant, as they are both elegant gentlemen, well fitted for the positions they are now seeking. Mr. Montgomery is a son of Hon. Jas. F. Montgomery and is a lawyer of recognized ability. A man who thinks and who has opinions and is not afraid to express them. He was reared in Columbia and from his youth he has stood for the right on every public question which has come before the county and town. No man questions his qualifications, and no man doubts but he would make a most watchful County Attorney. Mr. Montgomery will go over the county in the next few weeks and the voters will hear him on the affairs of the county and needs necessary to make it more prosperous.

There is not a better known man in Adair county than Walker Bryant. He stands high as a business man and is well-fitted for the office of County Court Clerk. He is a gentleman of the strictest integrity and is popular throughout the county. He proposes to conduct his canvass upon a high plane. He will seek votes upon his merits and will be thankful to those who will aid him by their suffrage in securing his election. It is only about five weeks until the November election, but within that time Mr. Montgomery and Mr. Bryant hopes to see every voter in Adair county.

The delivery of his lecture, "Right upon the Scaffold and wrong upon the Throne," throughout this part of the Eleventh Congressional District, is evidence that Mr. Powers seeks to ascertain the feeling of his party with a view of entering the political contest for a seat in Congress. It is also a fact that many of the active Republicans of this county, as in other sections, are desirous of his entry into the political situation and would doubtless use all their energy and sagacity to make him a winner over any other Republican who might seek that position, but regardless of the fact that the majority of his party in these counties are with him, yet it is a stubborn truth that he would have intelligent, active and unrelenting opposition from substantial Republicans should he enter the fight. It is not our purpose to do Mr. Powers an injustice nor to accuse his special friends and supporters of bad motives, but to speak plainly, his entry into the political interests of this District would open afresh the troubles of the past and instead of advancing the peace and prosperity of the people would evidently excite the passions and prejudices and broaden the breach which has existed for several years. That his tour is a political play; that his lecture seeks to strengthen partisan sympathy and more firmly engraft himself into the good graces and efforts of Republicans to heroize and reward, can hardly be doubted. It is not our purpose to engage in a Republican fight, for it is not our business and does not concern our interests, but living, hoping and trusting that the dark shadows that have hovered over our State and our district, for several years, may speedily pass into forgetfulness and that Kentucky may soon be in the embrace of political peace and upright official conduct, we dislike to see any move that tends to the opposite. It is not a matter whether Mr. Powers is what he claims, a martyr, or a party to an assassination, the people are divided as to his guilt or innocence, as to his prosecution, or persecution, and no election can remove or produce a change in public sentiment. He could only be vindicated through evidence proving innocence before a trial court. This has been eliminated by Executive clemency. His admirers ought to consider the good of the district first and personal preference second. They can not fail to see that his candidacy means factional trouble in their own party and a reopening of the Goebel murder charges with all its bitterness, and that no good can possibly come from such a fight. A victory would not mean vindication, but merely the strength of factional power and leave his party divided and the district in turmoil. There are many able Republicans in the district whose records are clean and whose election would reflect credit, and if the Republican leaders truly have the good of the country at heart, if they cherish peace as a blessing, then Mr. Powers should be told to pursue an avocation of a civilian. His candidacy will prove an expensive luxury for the leaders who shoulder his cause. It will prove a mistake for his party and in the end disappointment for himself. His party has already done more for him than any other one man in the State. He is bound to know that his entry into politics is the introduction of strife and the intelligent leaders and backers of his ambition should well weigh the moral importance of such a conflict. That we should oppose his candidacy may well be expected, but to be plain and fair, to be clearly understood, our protest would be forthcoming were he a Democrat. This article is not prompted through hatred to Mr. Powers, but for love of the public peace. No man, regardless of party affiliation or ability, resting under divided public sentiment, whose record is stained with the accusation charged against him could get our support. If this accusation is wrong it is most unfortunate for him, if correct his election would be a stain, a black spot on the political morals of our district and State. It is to be hoped that he will see the cost his candidacy will give the district and that his political friends will see that his election can not vindicate and both yield for the public good.

The ovation tendered Dr. Cook by the citizens of his home city, Brooklyn, N. Y., at his arrival there was wild, happy and joyous. His wife and children were the first to greet him in the early morning when Dr. Cook was transferred at quarantine to a tug containing his family. The meeting between them was tender and affectionate. Dr. Cook was transferred to the steamer Grand Republic, on which a large number of his close friends were gathered. When he was landed in Brooklyn the crowds were so large that the militia and police were barely able to keep down a riot, so eager were they to embrace the explorer. Dr. Cook was tendered a public reception at the Bushwick Club and was lionized by his home people throughout the day.

Gov. John A. Johnson, three times elected Governor of Min-
